Immortal: Why CONSCIOUSNESS is NOT in the BRAIN By sergio canavero MD

For 150 years the materialist-reductionist view of the world has dominated western thinking and academe. Man has been reduced to the level of a machine whose existence is due to a mere fluke. This nihilism percolated throughout society, making human existence of dubious significance. The scientific revolution has made life easier, but not more meaningful. The result has been a spiritual wasteland, that has certainly not improved the human lot. But materialist science has lied. Above all, it forgot Hamlet's lines: "There are more things on heaven and earth, Horatio/than are dreamt of in your philosophy" By upending long-held views, world-famous neuroscientist Dr Canavero proves that what is at the basis of reality, consciousness, is immortal... and so are you.

Editorial Review

About the Author

Sergio Canavero (MD, US FMGEMS) is a functional neurosurgeon. He is the discoverer of the genesis of central pain syndromes: for this feat, he has been hailed as “benefactor of mankind” and “Italian genius of the first order” by the US website www.painonline.org (2007). He is a leading expert in the field of electrical and chemical neuromodulation: he invented extradural motor cortex stimulation for Parkinson disease, bifocal cortical stimulation for the vegetative state and co-introduced extradural cortical stimulation for stroke rehabilitation. His books include: Central Pain Syndrome (Cambridge University Press, 2007, 2011), Textbook of Therapeutic Cortical Stimulation (Nova Sci., 2009) and Textbook of Cortical Brain Stimulation (De Gruyter Open, 2014), and, in Italian, two books on human sexual behavior, Donne Scoperte and Uomini a Nudo (Ed.Clandestine, 2005 and 2007). He is universally known for his HEAVEN/GEMINI project of head-body transplantation. He also made the news following publication of his project of cortical neuromodulation for psychopaths. He is a TEDx speaker (<http://www.ustream.tv/recorded/52890140>)
