Where Hope Prevails (Return to the Canadian West) By Janette Oke, Laurel Oke Logan

Inspiring Conclusion to a Popular Series with a Tv tie-in

When Beth Thatcher returns to Coal Valley, she has much to be excited about. She anticipates Jarrick's proposal of marriage and perhaps a spring wedding. The mine is expanding, and there are more schoolchildren than ever.

But the town's rapid growth brings many challenges. A second teacher is assigned, and Beth finds herself going head-to-head with a very different philosophy of education—one that dismisses religion and rejects God. Fearful for the children who sit under the influence of Robert Harris Hughes, Beth struggles to know how to respond.

At the same time, Beth wonders if Jarrick is considering a position at her father's company simply for her sake. Should she admit her feelings on the matter? Or keep silent and allow Jarrick to make up his own mind?

Editorial Review

From the Inside Flap

"Wish ya could'a met the new man today," Molly said. "So many folks comin' an' goin'. I can't keep up."

"I'm sorry, who?"

"The new teacher."

Beth spun to fully face Molly. "The new what?"

Molly's lips puckered, and her forehead drew together in a frown. "Oh, ya didn't know?" She hurried on, reaching for Beth's hand. "Was sure you'd heard that bit. Don't fret. It's good news, dearie. The school board made a list of kids we got now and decided it'll take two teachers to educate 'em all." She squeezed Beth's hand, giving her a comforting smile.

Beth concealed a shudder by setting her coffee cup down. "Who is this man? What do you know about him?"

"We're lucky to have him," Molly answered, still holding Beth's hand. "Mr. Robert Harris Hughes he's called--two last names, if ya can imagine." But her chuckle sounded a bit forced. "He's real educated--from the East, like yerself."

"And where is he now?"

"Back in Calgary--went to visit his fiancée. 'Pears she don't care much ta come out so far. Then again, they ain't married yet either. So there's no point anyhow."

"Whatever would induce him to come way out here?"

Molly smiled wryly and snorted. "Well, dearie, you did."

From the Back Cover

She leans forward for her first glimpse of the little mountain town that has captured her heart, but something has changed.

Elizabeth Thatcher's highly anticipated return to her beloved Coal Valley after a long summer with her family back east is filled with surprises . . . and not all of them good ones, in her estimation. Maybe the worst one of all relates to her treasured students. Can she adapt and learn to cope with this enormous change?

Her Mountie, Jarrick Thornton, hasn't yet proposed, but she already knows what her answer will be. His duties take him away from the valley much too often, in her view, but the two of them, with patience and understanding--and one significant misunderstanding--are learning to know each other better.

The dark cloud looming on the horizon in Beth's mind, though, is filled with questions about where their future might take them. As a member of the RCMP, Jarrick is stationed wherever his superiors send him . . . but what about her teaching position in Coal Valley?

Beth attempts to do her best with each obstacle she faces, but does she rightly assess each situation as it surfaces? Good intentions don't always lead to good results. . . .

A companion story to Hallmark Channel's When Calls the Heart TV series
