A Letter to Teachers: Reflections on Schooling and the Art of Teaching By Vito Perrone

"Teaching after all is about knowing children well"

—from A Letter to Teachers

"Perrone has given us a gift, a book worth reading over many times, an important reflection on his many years of close observation of schools and school people, parents, teachers, children, and their communities."

—Deborah W. Meier, principal, Central Park East Secondary School

Simple, elegant and full of common sense, these reflections on the art of teaching address the deepest concerns teachers have for their work with children and young people.

Dolores Albert:

As a pupil exactly feel bored to reading. If their teacher requested them to go to the library or even make summary for some reserve, they are complained. Just minor students that has reading's internal or real their leisure activity. They just do what the teacher want, like asked to go to the library. They go to presently there but nothing reading very seriously. Any students feel that looking at is not important, boring as well as can't see colorful photographs on there. Yeah, it is to get complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this period, many ways to get whatever we would like. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country. So , this A Letter to Teachers: Reflections on Schooling and the Art of Teaching can make you feel more interested to read.
