Editorial Review

From School Library Journal

Gr 3-5-This series will be useful in any collection needing updated texts about the human body. The titles clearly explain what functions each of the six systems performs. The design is eye-catching and attractive, with lots of clean white space and an easy-on-the-eyes font. Captioned photographs or colorful diagrams appear on every page. Many of the photographs were taken with a microscope and are sure to fascinate children. In every volume, the detailed photo captions and sidebars provide additional interesting factoids that complement the main texts. For example, readers learn in Respiratory that "You can sing high and low by tightening your vocal cords." These titles will appeal to browsers, and the strong back matter makes them useful for reports as well.©(c) Copyright 2011. Library Journals LLC, a wholly owned subsidiary of Media Source, Inc. Sam Dickson:

As a student exactly feel bored to help reading. If their teacher asked them to go to the library or to make summary for some reserve, they are complained. Just little students that has reading's heart and soul or real their passion. They just do what the trainer want, like asked to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading critically. Any students feel that examining is not important, boring as well as can't see colorful pics on there. Yeah, it is to get complicated. Book is very important in your case. As we know that on this period, many ways to get whatever we want. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country. So , this Your Nervous System (Searchlight Books: How Does Your Body Work?)
